Objectives and Investment Policy

The fund invests globally mainly in equities within the information technology sector. The sector includes, for example, companies operating in software, computer manufacturing, communications equipment, semiconductors and IT services. As the sector is dominated by US companies, the majority of the fund's equity is usually placed in the USA.

We have a long-term investment horizon and select those companies we find have an attractive valuation in relation to our view of their future earnings potential. The difference between the fund returns and the benchmark index may at times be significant.

For additional information regarding our investment strategy, see the fund's investment information brochure.

Risk and reward profile

The risk and performance indicator shows the correlation between risk and possible returns of investing in the fund. The indicator is based on how the fund value has changed over the last five years. This fund is in category 6, which indicates there is a risk that the value of units in the fund can either increase and decrease. Category 1 does not imply that the fund is risk free. The risk class may change over time. As the indicator is based on historic data which is not a guarantee of future risk and performance.

Equity funds normally have higher potential for long-term value growth. But any investment in an equity fund also has a high risk, as prices may fluctuate significantly in equity markets.

Material risks in the fund that are not fully reflected in the risk/return indicator are:

- Concentration risk. The fund is a high-risk fund by virtue of its concentration of equity investments in the IT sector. Moreover, the focus on IT means that the fund will invest significantly in a single region (USA), thereby limiting geographical diversification.
- Currency risk. The fund invests in securities denominated in other currencies than the base currency of the fund and is therefore affected by exchange rate fluctuations. Further, the fund consists of different share classes and changes in exchange rates may mean that the currency risk differs between different share classes depending on the currency in which the share class is traded.
- As the fund usually uses derivatives on a small scale, this affects the fund's risk profile to a certain extent. The use of derivatives may vary periodically.
